A&D's emergency response services are designed to protect the environment and to minimize the liability of the customers we serve. With our broad expertise, A&D is your single-source solution for incidents of virtually any size.

Turnkey capabilities. A&D has the technologies and technical resources to deliver a scope of high-quality, high-confidence services on a 24/7/365 basis:

- Industrial releases

- Low-level radiation disposal
- Mercury decontamination
- Land and water oil response

Rapid response. An A&D professional will be onsite within one hour of notification (plus travel time) to conduct an inspection and formulate an accurate response plan.

Demonstrated expertise. A&D is a Certified Region 4 Response Team and a Certified Railroad Responder. Additionally, we have numerous Emergency Response Agreements with manufacturers, local municipalities, and other governmental agencies, and regularly respond to weekly requests for assistance. Our environmental specialists have over 130 years of combined experience providing emergency response services.

Focus on safety. We are committed to providing and maintaining safe onsite working conditions, including informing stakeholders of hazards and protective measures; preparing site-specific health and safety plans; and developing evacuation logistics.

Financial strength and security. Unlike many companies in the environmental services industry, A&D is financially sound, stable, and secure. This ensures that we have the resources to bring the right resources, technology, and equipment to any job.

Total accountability. With our experience and financial security, we can confidently stand behind the work we do – and the work performed by any subcontractor – and we take complete responsibility for our performance, our team, and our results.

Minimized risk, no-worry service. We have an exceptional compliance record, and a proven record of safety. Combined with our expertise and skills, this background – which has helped us maintain strong working relationships with regulators – enables A&D to minimize potential risks to customers by providing no-worry, highly reliable service.
